Antique Show coming to town Jan. 16-17

Antiques are one purchase that traditionally increase in value, said Wanda Jones, promoter of the Elegance of Fountain Hills Antique Show.

She and husband Bob are sponsoring their first show in Fountain Hills, Jan. 16 and 17 in the Community Center.

"Treasures of the past make for great future investments," said Jones. Her business, Arizona Antique Shows, hosts events at Phoenix State Fairgrounds, Yuma, Flagstaff and Ruidoso, New Mexico.

"There's something for everyone and something in every price range."

No admission or parking fee will be charged. Show hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, and 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., Sunday.

Dealers will display the highest quality of antiques at the show, said Jones. Many participating dealers have spent 20 to 30 years in the industry.

Quality decorative arts, such as Tiffany, Galle, Daum Nancy and other craftsmen from the Deco period will be displayed. Antiques and collectibles, including European, Victorian and early Americana, jewelry, pottery, glass, locks, furniture, western antiques and collectibles, Native American artifacts, rugs, kachinas and art will be represented.

A display of Majolica ceramics from England, France and Renaissance period in Italy will be featured, along with quarter sawn antique oak furniture. Quarter sawn oak was created in the 14th century and remained popular through the 17th century.

A national sterling dealer will display 40 feet of patterns and hollowware.

Jones has teamed up with a non-profit organization, Global Family Philanthropy, for the newest show. Global Family Philanthropy works to remove children from the streets in Haiti and Africa and place them in orphanages and homes. The organization provides food, clothing and other basic necessities to help improve the living conditions for the youngsters.

Working with an all-volunteer staff, they team up with other various organizations to build clinics and schools to enhance lives. Physicians and dentists, along with Global Family Philanthropy, visit the children once a quarter to provide much needed care. They work with local schools to educate children and their families on the gift of giving by implementing a "service learning" project.

"This gives the school children a chance to see what the world is really like and that if we all help each other, our world will be a better place," said founder and president Lori Goldberg.

She will explain the group's mission at the show.

Vintage European car show
The Desert Region Chapter of Fiat Lancia Unlimited ended its fifth New Year's Day "Giata" (Drive in the Country) at Plaza Fountainside. Organizer Wendy Rozov said 26 vehicles were registered for the 60-mile scavenger hunt. It was the first gathering of the car collectors' chapter in Fountain Hills. Fiats and Lancias representing every decade, and other European and Italian automobiles were shown.

Last call to buy gala tickets

Friday, Jan. 8, is the last day that the Chamber of Commerce will sell tickets for the Jan. 16 awards gala.

The 23rd annual dinner honors the 2009 Business Person of the Year, Advocate of the Year and Non-Profit Organization of the Year. Rio Verde Country Club will be the location.

The evening will begin with cocktails at 6:30 p.m., followed by dinner and awards at 7:30 p.m. The Gadabouts will play music for dancing until 11 p.m.

Seating is limited to 150. Tickets are $70 and can be purchased at the Chamber office, 837-1634, ext. 223, or on the Chamber Web site under gala awards. Black tie is optional.

The nominees for Business Person of the Year are Douglas Schmidt, Legacy Asset Management; Carolyn and Anthony Redendo, Redendo's Pizza & Pasta; and Mike Tyler of Anchor Business Consulting, LLC.

Candidates for Advocate of the Year are Jean Linzer, Lois Grate and Beverly Belury.

Fountain Hills Community Foundation, Fountain Hills Cultural & Civic Association and Kiwanis Club of Fountain Hills have been nominated for Non-Profit of the Year.

Bldv. will be the location for the first Chamber of Commerce ribbon cutting in 2010 at 5 p.m. Thursday, Jan. 7.

Owners are Bill Nelson and his daughter, Christine.

ServPro, a franchise cleaning and restoration services business owned locally by Meredith and Antonio Pinotes, will have its ribbon-cutting ceremony at 5 p.m., Monday, Jan. 25.

The business is located in suite 6, 16530 Laser Drive, FireRock Industrial Park.

2 ribbon cuttings are scheduled
